

Expert moderation model

Prep–Year 10

The expert moderation model typically uses the expertise of an experienced teacher, subject expert, curriculum expert or school leader. In this moderation model, teachers submit a selection of student responses representing A–E or equivalent standards, and the expert provides feedback to confirm or question the teacher's judgments.

This moderation usually occurs after teachers have graded all student responses and can save time across a school. However for teachers, the opportunity for professional conversations and building a shared understanding of the achievement standard is not a feature of this model.
