In the book or in your head?

While you’re reading, ask yourself questions about how and where to find the answers to the questions you have.

The answer to the question can be in the book.

Is the answer right there?

so ask yourself …

Sometimes the answer is in the book but you have to work to find it.

Do I have to think and search?

so ask yourself …

Sometimes the answer to your question is partly in the book and partly in your head.

Does this question need what the author knows and what I know?

so ask yourself …

Sometimes you need to use the things that are in your head.

Am I on my own here? Do I have to use what’s in my head?

so ask yourself …
